To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is to confirm that Burning Coal Theatre Company will be producing a new English language adaptation of August Strindberg's Miss Julie adapted by Kelsey Egan and Jack Lienke (royalties considerations pending) in May, 2006 in Raleigh, NC and again in Asheville, NC as part of the Stoneleaf Theatre Festival in June, 2006.

The production will be directed by Rebecca Holderness. Ms. Holderness has directed several productions for Burning Coal Theatre Company over the last ten years, including Loves Labours Lost, Romeo & Juliet, Einstein's Dreams, A Doll's House and James Joyce's 'The Dead'.

Please contact the undersigned at 919.834.4001 or burning_coal@ipass.net with questions or for further information.

Regards,

Jerome Davis/Artistic Director
